STAR WINS AGAINST COUNTY

Howard Countian Killed By Tenant Farmer Tuesday

Lewis Shannon Shot to Death, Brother Hurt by Lonnie York
HELD AT NASHVILLE
Quarrel Precedes Shooting at Farm Several Miles West of Nashville

NASHVILLE, Ark.—Lewis Shannon, 25-year-old Howard county farmer, was shot to death and his 22-year-old brother was seriously wounded Tuesday as the result of an argument the two brothers had with Lonnie York, 50, tenant farmer, in the Center community, 11 miles west of here.

York was arrested shortly after the shooting at his home on the Shannon farm. He confessed to the slaying but claimed self defense declaring that he began shooting when the two brothers attacked him with rakes in their hands.

The argument, according to information obtained by Howard county officers, started over the number of plows York was to use in his spring planting. He demanded four and the Shannon brothers were willing to let him have only two.

After heated words had been passed the brothers left York and went back to their home. They returned later and the argument was resumed, York having procured a .32 caliber automatic pistol in the meantime.

Lewis Shannon was shot in the heart and died instantly and his brother was struck in the back as he turned to flee. Four shots were fired but only two took effect. The wounded youth was taken to his home and a Texarkana physician summoned to perform an emergency operation. He was given an even chance to recover Tuesday night.

York was being held in the Howard county jail on a murder charge. No date for an examining trial had been set.

The slain man is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim A. Shannon, and two brothers. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at Bluff Springs with Rev. McKay of Senterpoint officiating.

Suicides Reveal Gambling Scandal

Two Titled Frequenters of Fashionable Vienna Clubs Under Arrest

VIENNA, Austria—(AP)—A gambling scandal in two fashionable clubs was exposed in Vienna Tuesday with the suicide of a well known physician and his wife and the arrest of two titled men.

The physician, Dr. Hesmarn Loewy, and his invalid wife were found shot to death in their apartment.

The two aristocrats are Baron Otto Gutmann-Gelse and Baron Henri Menasse, and they were charged by police with fleeing fellow members of the two clubs with the aid of another member of the aristocracy, who is sought, and a bribed club employee.

Dr. Loewy was believed to have been duped into helping them, although friends said the chronic illness of his wife was the cause of the double suicide. Dr. Loewy was to have appeared before the police Tuesday for questioning in the case.

The physician was reported to have told a Hunian newspaper correspondent a few hours before his suicide that the man who is sought by police usually sold him and the two barons horoscopes indicating the best times to play.

Other reports had it that Dr. Loewy was paid outright by the unnamed society man, and others who were not named gave 40 per cent of their winnings to him.

The vanished clubman gave tips only when his bribed associate was on duty at the club tables, according to the police. The associate was reported to have furnished doctored cards and the fleeing allegedly extended over about a year.

While the woman was getting a permanent wave, the operator discovered that the child was a boy and when she made known this discovery the woman became frustrated and fled.

Bodenhamer Fears Communistic Riots

Senatorial Candidate Would Stamp Out "This Undermining Influence"

MONTICELLO.—Predicting that May Day in America will be marred by Communist riots and disorder, Maj. O. L. Bodenhamer of El Dorado, candidate for United States senator, pleaded for a system of education that will stamp out "this undermining influence of our citizenship," in an address here Tuesday before the Monticello Lions Club.

"It is no secret that leaders of Communism and Bolshevik movements are spending their time and money on the youth, rather than the adult population of our country," he declared.

"The teacher of foreign ideas sees the 35,000,000 normal children in the United States as the vulnerable point for his attack. Here, likewise, must we hope to instill the ideals of true American citizenship."

"It is generally conceded that the government, as well as the individual, is the beneficiary of an educational system. The government should support and maintain a sound educational system to meet the growing menace of Communism and Red propaganda."

Referring to the May Day celebration, the former national commander of the American Legion charged that on that day "there will be more of the bloody Red banner of Communism than there will be of the Stars and Stripes. During these days of unemployment and discontent, this May Day crowd will be swelled beyond the hopes of the most optimistic Red."

Blackwood Broke in 1926, Paper Recalls

The Newport Independent of last Saturday, April 16, says that although Chairman Dwight H. Blackwood told the Highway Audit Commission he was worth between $150,000 and $160,000 when he left sheriff's office in Mississippi county for Little Rock, Mr. Blackwood told the voters of Newport in a stump speech at that city July 23, 1926, when he was campaigning for highway commissioner against Herbert R. Wilson, that he was then virtually "broke."

The Newport paper's story, based on its permanent files of six years ago, says:

"On the night of July 23, 1926, Dwight H. Blackwood spoke at the court house in Newport as a candidate for highway commissioner to succeed Herbert R. Wilson. Referring to a report circulated that he was short in his accounts as sheriff and collector of Mississippi county, Mr. Blackwood said, according to the Daily Independent published July 24, 1926, that his deputy absconded with more than $50,000 and that the deputy was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary."

"I paid off that shortage myself," Blackwood said, according to the newspaper files. "The banks of Mississippi county volunteered to loan me $15,000, which, added to the whole of my personal means, enabled me to pay every cent my trusted deputy stole from the taxpayers."

Mr. Blackwood was sheriff of Mississippi county six years, beginning in 1919 and ending with 1925. He stated in his testimony before the audit commission Friday that he was worth $150,000 to $160,000 when he went to Little Rock in 1926 to accept an appointment by former Gov. Tom J. Terral as state treasurer. He said he had $50,000 or $60,000 in money and property valued at around $100,000.

Blackwood Assails Audit Commission

Little Rock Newspapers Accused of Misinterpreting Board's Findings

BLITHEVILLE.—Dwight H. Blackwood, state Highway Commission chairman Tuesday charged the Highway Audit Commission with "political persecution," and two Little Rock newspapers, the Arkansas Gazette and Arkansas Democrat, with "misrepresentation of the commission's findings in connection with its investigation of his department."

He challenged the Audit Commission to find any illegal acts by the Highway Department which might lead to recovery of money, and attacked the Audit Board for attempting to find fault with his department for alleged failure to observe laws which, he said, the board itself has overridden with impunity.

"A hue and cry was raised," the commissioner said, "because all Highway Department contracts over $1,000 were not let on a competitive basis, yet the Audit Board, in direct opposition to the act creating the board, let the highway audit contract on anything but a competitive basis."

Blackwood added that in his opinion recodification of the highway acts permitted building of roads on a force or cost plus basis where it was believed best.

He criticized the Audit Board for holding secret sessions until the recent extra session of the legislature, and then making "political capital" of hearings before the commission on cost plus contracts to force another appropriation for its work. The Audit Commission will not complete its work until its total appropriation of $225,000 is exhausted, and will find no money misused or that the state may recover, Blackwood predicted.

"The Arkansas Gazette and Arkansas Democrat have always been against me and are against anybody from this section of the state," he said in referring to what he termed misrepresentations of the Audit Board's findings. This also was done by prospective candidates for governor on the Audit Board, needing some political dynamite to run on, he charged.

Parks Will Favor Payment of Bonus

Congressman Declares Himself in Letter to Legion Com. Stringer

Congressman Tilman B. Parks, of the Seventh Arkansas district, will not oppose the bonus bill, regardless how the Democratic party leaders view it, he writes in a letter to J. L. Stringer, commander of the Hope post of the American Legion.

Mr. Parks' letter follows:

"Dear sir and friend: In spite of the hue and cry to take the dollars from those who deserve them in order to 'balance the budget' I do not intend to vote against the bonus."

"If congress can give two billion dollars to the banks and railroads we can pay the bonus. I am sick and tired of the attempt of the millionaires of the East trying to run the country."

The Democratic leaders of the house and the senate have declared themselves against the payment of the bonus. They do not control me. I am for the boys that were in the trenches. With best wishes I am, TILMAN B. PARKS."

Is Given Judgment On Delinquent Tax Against Higgason

Circuit Judge Dexter Bush Rules for Newspaper Wednesday Morning

ONLY LEGAL ISSUE

Question of Fact Stricken Out at Second Hearing of Case

Hope Star was awarded judgment for the full legal amount of the 1931 delinquent tax, let on bench decision by Circuit Judge Dexter Bush, Wednesday morning in Washington.

It was the second trial of the newspaper case against County Judge J. H. Higgason and Hempstead county, the first being sent to a jury April 15 on a question of fact, and resulting in a hung jury.

Purely Legal Issue.

The newspaper's attorneys, O. Graves and W. S. Atkins, objected to a jury trial on the ground that the suit for the delinquent land tax involved only a question of law, and should be decided by the trial judge.

Following mistrial in the first case, Mr. Graves and Mr. Atkins appeared in court again last Monday with additional cases to support their contention it was an issue of law. Judge Bush took exception to the argument, and Wednesday morning handed down a judgment for the newspaper.

The trial judge said he believed County Judge Higgason acted in faith, and that he was zealous in an attempt to reduce the county's expenses.

"The great weight of legal authority upholds the plaintiff's action brought before this court," he said.

The key case presented by Mr. Graves while making the newspaper's final argument Monday was an identical suit brought by a Wisconsin newspaper against the Wisconsin county that state, in which the newspaper was upheld by the circuit court and later by the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Notice of appeal from Judge Bush's decision was filed by County Judge Higgason's attorneys, Steve Carrigan and L. F. Monroe.

Jury Trial Reported.

In the jury trial of E. W. Lewis vs. A. A. Gibson, a verdict was returned for the defendant.

Charles Shaw, in another jury trial was awarded judgment in the amount of $200 against Union Compress & Warehouse Co., which, however, appealed to the supreme court.

The jury in the case of Andrew Powell against the Missouri Pacific brought in a verdict for the railroad company.

In the hearing of litigation concerning the estate of the late George W. Killion, Judge Bush disqualified himself. The hearing revolved around the administration of the estate by Dr. G. H. Martindale, whose son, Dr. Jim G. Martindale, is Judge Bush's brother-in-law.

Following Judge Bush's action, the county bar-elected Pat Casey temporary judge, the other nominee being George R. Haynie, visiting attorney from Camden.

Mass Meetings Planned In State

Fleming Writes Parnell That Gatherings in State Will Continue

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Mass meetings will be held at frequent intervals until Governor Parnell calls a special session of the legislature to abolish the present state highway commission and to provide for election of a temporary commission by members of the house of representatives. Representative Charles F. Fleming of St. Francis county, chairman of the mass meeting held at city park, wrote Governor Parnell Tuesday.

Fleming expressed his appreciation for the courtesy shown a committee sent from the mass meeting to the governor's office to ask for a positive answer as to whether the governor will call another special session.

He commended the governor for sponsoring a voluntary 20 per cent reduction in operating costs of departments in the statehouse, but added he believes it more important "to abolish the useless commissions and the highway commission."

He suggested that this should be done in time for the people to nominate a commissioner from each congressional district at the August primary, and that house members should be permitted to elect commissioners to serve until January 1.

TEXARKANA.—William A. Richardson, aged 36, was shot and seriously wounded early Monday near his farm home, near Linden, Texas, 35 miles west of here, when he is said to have engaged in an argument with Cleveland and Joe Henderson, brothers, over land which he rented from their mother. The accused men were arrested by Sheriff Curtright.

On the operating table the wounded man in a statement to Prosecuting Attorney Elmer L. Lincoln, named Cleveland Henderson as the man who shot him and declared Joe struck him heavily with a gun.

Richardson said that the men came to his place and attempted to farm on it. When he objected, he said they shot him.

Miss Renard was one of the city's most prominent musicians. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon. Surviving relatives are her father, Frank Renard, composer; her mother, a brother and a sister.

The young woman was killed instantly. Part of her skull was knocked away, bones in the lower part of her body were fractured and her body was badly mangled.

Newton D. Baker says we need another real leader, but the taxpayers would probably rather see another billion-dollar surplus.

How CARDUI Helps Women

"I WAS passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Gullian, Texas. "I improved very much after I had taken Cardui for a while. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. As each one of them arrived at womanhood, I gave her Cardui for several months. I found they were less nervous and felt stronger. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. In my home we have all been better for having taken it."

Country to Blossom
With Old-Time Flowers

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Old-fashioned caddytuft, sweet alyssum and mignonne of grandmothers day will be planted in many a garden over the country this spring.

Back yards will bloom with colonial flowers in honor of the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth. The department of agriculture is co-operating in the movement and has prepared lists of flowers and shrubs grown in earlier days.

Many visitors to Washington are taking home slips of rooted ivy from the original ivy at Mount Vernon.

Names of Short Sellers Secured

Investigation of New York Stock Exchange to Be Resumed Monday

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Armed with the names of the big short sellers on the New York stock exchange, the Senate Banking Committee will resume Monday its investigation of administration charges that bear responsibility for the market crash.

Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, again will be on the stand. Members of the committee have spent the week-end working over voluminous data furnished by Whitney in compliance with the subpoena, on short-selling and those who are engaged in it.

The information has been closely guarded by the committee, but some of its members are confident it will throw new light on the influences which they believe have been active during the recent decline in market values.

Whitney was asked to furnish the names of the corporations in which there was a short interest of 10,000 shares or more at the close of the market on Friday, April 8.

He was asked for the names of the members who handled the transactions, and a list of the clients to whom they sold the stocks. Names of the leaders in stock for short sales also were demanded.

The subpoena was issued at a suddenly called, secret meeting of the committee, on the afternoon of the day for which the information was requested, as stocks slid rapidly downward.

It later developed the committee based on reports from administration officers that a huge bear raid was planned in the market for the following day, Saturday, April 9. Instead, the Senate's investigation under way, the market rose.

Miss Mary Rogers called at H. B. Sanfords Thursday.

Earl Duke of the Ebenezer neighborhood was calling on some of the young folks in our midst Sunday evening.

A little, at least of road work would improve some of our dirt roads very much at least. Some of the ruts might be filled up and some of the rough places made smooth.

If the weather permits a nice time is anticipated for the closing of Harmony school Friday night by the rendering of a well prepared program given by Mr. Douthitt, teacher, and pupils, also a few out side the school will assist with the entertainment.

We are very sorry to learn of the burning of the collier barn at Collier's Lake on night last week.

Arkansas Peach Crop Almost Lost

Other Fruit and Truck Crops Damaged by Freeze in March

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Because of its freezing weather in the early part of March, a near failure in the Arkansas peach crop is in prospect, Charles S. Bouton, federal-state agricultural statistician, said in his April crop report.

Plums, pears, apples and strawberries, he said, also were damaged, as well as early truck, such as radishes and spinach.

"An unusually mild winter throughout the southern states caused early blooming varieties of peaches to come into full bloom by the first week in March, and in most sections the later blooming varieties had begun to bloom, or the buds were considerably swollen," he said. "During the second week in March, temperatures dropped to record lows for this period of the year."

Mr. Bouton also reported on the condition of winter wheat, oats, Irish potatoes, pastures, farm wages, and the supply and demand of farm labor.

"Although the reported condition of 80 per cent for wheat in Arkansas is 18 points below the 98 per cent condition reported a year ago. It is only two per cent below that reported for the present crop on December 1931, and three per cent below the ten year average for April," he said.

"No forecast of final production is published for Arkansas on April 1, but for the United States a total production of about 458,000,000 bushels is indicated. The production last year was about 787,500,000 bushels.

"Both the fall and spring plantings of oats suffered from the March freeze, and the reported condition of 65 per cent is 19 per cent below April 1 last year and 15 per cent below the five year average (1924-1928). The reported condition for the ten Southern states is nine per cent below average.

"The reported condition of early Irish potatoes in the state is 15 per cent below average. This crop also was injured by the freeze and the weather following the freeze has not been such as would encourage crop recovery.

"The cold weather apparently damaged the Arkansas peach crop more seriously than that of any other state, but the condition figure in the ten southern states is the lowest April 1 condition since the beginning of the inquiry in 1924. The condition figure of 10 per cent was reported for Arkansas.

"Pastures received a set back as a result of the early March freeze, and the April condition figure of 63 per cent compares with 72 per cent a year ago, and an average April 1 condition of 79 per cent.

"Farm wages have continued to decline. As reported by correspondents, farmers are paying about 22 per cent less for labor than a year ago. Reported average per day is 80 cents, without board."

The supply of labor is reported as 115 per cent of normal as compared with 110 per cent of normal of a year ago. Demand is reported at 58 per cent of normal, with 55 per cent a year ago.

Prisoner Said to Confess Killing

Officers Declare Logan County Murder Mystery Solved

PARIS.—Officers announced Saturday that Owen Lile, aged 34, farmer living about six miles east of Paris, had confessed that he killed C. B. Luman, 65-year-old merchant, on the night of April 3, Deputy Sheriff Mont Perryman announced.

Luman, who was a neighbor of Lile, was struck on the head with a metal sledge when he failed to obey a command to hold up his hands as he was leaving his store. Ray Green, 22, also a farmer, was with Luman and as he started to run, he also was struck and rendered unconscious. Luman died the following day.

The purported confession, which was made in the county jail at Danville, said that Lile went to the Luman store to rob the merchant. He said he was accompanied to within a mile of the store by Frank Saulkenbury, 33, a farmer living in the same community the latter remained in his parked automobile, the confession said, Saulkenbury, also under arrest, denied implication in the killing. He is in jail at Danville.

Officers had been looking for Lile for several days. He was arrested Thursday at the home of a friend in Yell county. Officers spent several hours in jail with him and reported that he finally said he would confess if his parents were brought to the jail. It was only a few moments after the arrival of the parents, shortly after midnight, that Lile dictated his confession, officers said. Lile is the father of two children, but is divorced from his wife.

Vincent M. Miles Chooses Manager

H. L. Lambert to Direct Senate Campaign From Fort Smith

FORT SMITH, (AP)—Vincent M. Miles of Fort Smith, candidate for the United States Senate, has announced selection of H. L. Lambert of Little Rock as manager of his campaign, and the opening of state headquarters here. Mr. Lambert is expected to arrive to take charge Wednesday.

Mr. Lambert recently resigned as secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, after nine years of service. He announced at the time formation of a business connection but has agreed to devote his time until the primary election to directing Mr. Miles' campaign.

"I am happy to announce that Mr. Lambert has agreed to come to Fort Smith to direct my campaign for the Senate," said Mr. Miles, who is a member of the Democratic National Committee.

"My headquarters will be in my law office in Fort Smith, and I have no present intention of establishing headquarters in Little Rock because of the expense involved."

"I am making this campaign without a war chest. I believe the people of Arkansas will welcome a chance to elect a senator because of his personal qualifications, and not because he has the biggest army of paid workers."
